

“The human heart is made for universal praise”

Brother David Steindl-Rast

*When the sun comes up in the morning
And we watch the dew as it evaporates
We surrender to the natural order
Allowing the divine to take place.
This divinity is present with ease and grace*

*Our daily question arises
What is ours to do today
How is it that I shall take my place and serve in my God-given way
To serve myself first...then spread my grace
To embody my “being” and share at my pace
It is our innate knowing that all is within
To “BE” becomes our natural rhythm*

*All of who are willing to go deep
Our souls allow us to imagine the world we seek Recalling our love and bringing resilience forth
Assisting others to find their course
Practicing presence is the name of the game
To embody this life is why we came*

*Pray that the love & light be carried with your voice
And know that your words you have shared offer a divine choice*

The answer is Just to Be
